

Short-term help that makes a long-term difference

CFO Support

If your CFO or controller is preparing for an upcoming audit; involved in a merger, acquisition, or divestiture; or needs an extra set of hands to help with a special analysis or project, LauberCFOs can step in to help. We can provide the right expertise for your particular project, working independently or side by side with your financial team.

Our interim financial resources can help your financial staff meet peak demand periods without having to bring a permanent employee on board.

Filling the gap

Sometimes, the unexpected happens. If someone on your financial staff is faced with a sudden illness or requires an extended leave of absence, LauberCFOs can provide temporary resources to keep your business running smoothly. A member of LauberCFOs experienced CFO team can step in and provide much-needed stability if you need to suddenly fill that key position on your management team.

No matter if the need is for a CFO, Controller or financial staff, we step in and provide the right level resources to ensure the critical financial aspects of your business remain stable through personnel transitions.

Building for success

LauberCFOs provide more than just day to day processing assistance. Our experienced professionals can project cash needs, complete profitability analysis, dig into credit issues, address cost accounting concerns, or develop credible information to support your banking relationship.

LauberCFOs can provide extensive experience and an outside perspective during periods of rapid change or other circumstances requiring heavy lifting. We can also help your current CFO mentor young financial staff, teaching them valuable skills so they can perform their jobs more effectively.

About LauberCFOs

LauberCFOs has provided financial talent to support businesses since 1986. In addition to Part-time CFOs we offer contract CFOs, controllers and crucial staff for short-term projects, and recruiting services for key permanent financial positions. Working with LauberCFOs enables businesses to obtain access to the right level of skills, experience, and strategic insight.

A resource from LauberCFOs can work with a business's own CFO or function independently in businesses that do not have the need for a full-time CFO. Our talented professionals bring a breadth of experiences to each client, helping unburden the owner and current financial staff. Whether you need financial support or leadership, LauberCFOs can provide the right financial talent to move your business forward, financially and organizationally.

The Resource for Financial Talent

“At the time we brought Lauber in, the company was in a heavy growth spurt and we had lost sight of the financial activity. They gave us confidence in where we were going, helped improve our bottom line, and helped me sleep better at night.”

~ Greg Groth, Tax Airfreight, Inc.
